WE NOMINATE

Alpheus Thomas Mason, one of the great teachers of his time, who this month—as he approaches his 60th birthday—is about to embark upon a three-year study of a phenomenon which differentiates American democracy from any other form of popular government, meaning government by, of and for the people. With the support of a grant of $21,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation, the indefatigable Mason, prize-winning biographer of Supreme Court Justices, is undertaking an analysis of the office and powers of the Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, whose responsibilities and functions are most emphatically not set forth either by the Constitution or the Laws of the Land.

Coincidental with the announcement of the Rockefeller grant was the word from Princeton University, where the Maryland-born Mason has been a Faculty member for well over a quarter-century, that for the next two academic years Mason will be the first incumbent of the Ford Foundation Research Professorship, a post enabling him to combine full-time independent research with half-year teaching "loads." Out of these two assignments, according to Mason's associates, will come new light on how, and why, American political questions are sooner or later resolved into judicial matters.

Mason, successor to Woodrow Wilson and Edward S. Corwin as the University's McCormick Professor of Jurisprudence and author of ten major volumes, considers himself an old-line teacher-scholar, with little (if any) enthusiasm for "team research" in the social sciences. "The academic discoverer," he has said, "has been eclipsed by the academic operator who's skilled in pedding so-called research projects and in the tactics of foundation solicitation, 'projectitis'. In teaching as in research, the eminent scholar gets lost by being picked as an administrative researcher to adorn a big project and supervise other people."

Over the next 24 months, with the assistance of a single research assistant, Mason, an acting dean this past summer in the Far West, will be carrying forward the kind of distinctive work typified by his monumental 914-page study, Harlan Fiske Stone: Pillar of the Law. This volume, one of the 225 submitted for consideration, shared in 1957 with William H. Whyte's The Organization Man and James Thurber's Further Fables for Our Time the initial Liberty and Justice Book Awards of the American Library Association, individual $5,000 prizes established by The Fund for the Republic.

One of the handful of political scientists to hold a visiting membership in the mathematics-conscious Institute for Advanced Study in the 1930's, Mason, a member of the Class of 1920 at Dickinson College, is the author of four definitive works on Justice Louis D. Brandeis, including the best-selling 1947 biography, Brandeis: A Free Man's Life. He is, in the opinion of a perceptive chronicler of the Princeton scene, "a lone-wolf researcher who writes about individuals, his forte being the 'old-fashioned' field of biography."

For insisting, without any pretensions whatsoever, that teachers are "big doers" because they influence the "course of human thought and action;" for resisting in an age of brontosaurian organizations the temptations offered by "academic promotion" and "assembly-line research;" for his refreshing and unbounded faith in the capacity of the individual; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

BOOK-LIFT TO MOSCOW

As Good-Will Project. A Griggstown resident whose belief in the ambassadorial qualities of books last week was translated into solid action may be out a couple of thousand dollars for his efforts. But he has the satisfaction of having seized a rare opportunity to make a personal contribution to international relations.

John C. Bullitt, a lawyer with offices in New York City, arranged to have 3,000 books airshipped to Russia as the Bookmobile at the American Exhibition in Moscow could reopen.

The Bookmobile was closed after Russians "borrowed" so many books that U. S. officials feared visitors would think the depleted supply reflected this country's literary output.

Mr. Bullitt was moved to action when an editorial deploring the closing of the Bookmobile appeared in The New York Times. "I'd had no previous contact with the exhibition," he told TOWN TOPICS, "but it seemed to me we ought to do something to help reopen the Bookmobile."

Working with the Combined Book Exhibit Inc., sponsors of the Bookmobile, and Henry Holt & Co., publishers, Mr. Bullitt obtained approval of the book-lift from the United States Information Agency. The State Department thereupon quickly obtained Russian agreement.

Joseph Fox of Holt & Co. was able to obtain 3,000 paperback books, but he had difficulty in finding hard-cover books because of the distance of publishers' warehouses from New York. Exhibition officials settled on a goal of 1,000 paperbacks and 2,000 in hard covers.

Decision was made to buy the clothbound volumes from a wholesaler. To save time, Mr. Bullitt, who lives on Canal Road in Griggstown with his wife and two children, guaranteed payment. "I don't know who's going to pay for them," he said. "We're hoping to get some foundation to do it, but if we don't, I will."

The books were selected and packed under the direction of Albert L. Rentley of the Combined Book Exhibit at a wholesale house in Hillside. Pan American World Airways agreed to provide transportation and the volumes left New York International Airport Saturday morning. Thanks to the efforts of a practical idealist, the Bookmobile was scheduled to reopen on Wednesday with its new stock.

JUGGLING ACT: Dr. William Purcell, Township Supervising Principal, has announced temporary classroom sites for new elementary schools not yet ready for occupancy. (Story on page 3.)

DORMITORY FOR HUN?

School Seeks to Buy House. The question of whether schoolboys are quiet and studious or noisy and athletic occupied members of the Township Zoning Board Monday night as they heard arguments for and against the acquisition of an Edgerstoune Road home by the Hun School for use as a dormitory.

"Boys will be boys," said Glen B. Miller, Jr., 213 Russell Road, appearing for Robert W. Johnson, Jr., 108 Edgerstoune. "There's bound to be shouting and horseplay from any boys' dormitory," Mr. Miller said, "and if you have a daughter . . ."

The house that Hun hopes to buy is the Alfred Hopkins home at 121 Edgerstoune, a three-story stone house built about 1932. In the Hopkins house — said to be valued at about $60,000 — Hun would house 12 boys and two instructors. The school, represented by John F. McCarthy Jr., seeks a special use permit required because of the residential character of the neighborhood.

Dr. Paul R. Chesehm, headmaster of the school, said that the 12 boys in the Hopkins house would be picked upperclassmen and that "We would see to it that they behaved."

He said that Hun enrollment, which was 147 last September, would be 188 this September and that the 72 additional spaces provided by the new dormitory are insufficient. Eighteen boys have been housed in the A. Douglas Russell house but that will no longer be available to Hun. The school learned of the availability of the Hopkins home about the same time it was informed that the Russell boys will have to move.

Mr. Miller asked whether Hun boys couldn't double up for a year while Hun found other quarters for them — possibly building another dormitory on some of its land. Mr. Chesehro said this would mean turning down six boys and crowding the others. He also said it would be more economical to buy the Hopkins house than to build from scratch.

"Blank Check" Opposed. The school also proposed to resubdivide its two lots on Wineut to raise the Hopkins house land from its present ½ acre up to the required one and one-half acres. This brought a question from Marian J. Levy, Jr., 102 Russell Road, who asked whether the Zoning Board could restrict the future use of the enlarged property.

"I don't want to give Hun a blank check," said Mr. Levy. "There are some buildings I wouldn't mind seeing on that land, but they might build some types I would definitely not want near my house."

Reeves Hicks, appearing for David Miller, Russell Road, and Donald Pickering, 92 Edgerstoune Road, said his clients felt that a boys' dormitory might lower the value of their property. Mr. Hicks also said that neighbors of the school were given only five days' notice of the use permit hearing instead of the required ten days and that this was too short a time in which to make a "major change" in the character of a neighborhood.

The Zoning Board withheld its decision until it can arrange a special meeting with Gordon Griffin, Township attorney.

PERSONALITIES

Reuben Cohen, 165 Clover Lane, who, in his capacity as president of the Jewish Center, has made its Nassau Street building available to the Township Board of Education as a "substitute school" for five of the classes which were to have met at the still-unfinished Riverside School. (Story, page 3.) For providing "excellent facilities in a highly satisfactory location," Mr. Cohen and the Center have been warmly thanked by Board President William L. Wilson for their "hospitality and extreme generosity."

Richard W. Colman, 2 Campbell Circle, who on Tuesday will lead a dozen assistant coaches and trainers and some 61 candidates for the 1959 Princeton football team in an intensive three-week pre-season practice session at Blairstown. Heading into his second full season as head coach of the Orange and Black eleven, the erudite Mr. Colman will set his sights on increasing Princeton's first-place hold in the composite Ivy standings, since the league was formalized in 1956.

ROUND UP

TOWN TOPICS' report of a fortnight ago that a new research center with some 2,000 employees will soon locate in this area can now be expanded by the report that it is expected to occupy a 200-acre site on the Princeton Pike in Lawrence Township . . . identity of the firm is not yet being made public, but it is reportedly in the electronics field and is defined by one source as "even bigger than RCA's David Sarnoff Research Center here."

Skillman & Skillman will henceforth be known as K. M. Light, Real Estate . . . It has been owned for the past six months by Mr. and Mrs. Karl M. Light but the name change goes into effect as of September 1.

With the thermometer running into the 90's twice last week the summer of 1959 has exceeded the average number of days (10) when the temperature reaches that level . . . the sharp drop early this week was welcome, bringing a lower maximum (73) on Monday than Saturday's minimum (77) . . . but the mercury's upward course again at mid-week underscored the long-range prediction for temperatures much above normal in these parts through mid-September.

Monday morning at 1.10 was a logical time to be asleep, but the place that John Kocsis, 20-year-old Trenton, chose was a bit illogical . . . police found him dozing behind the wheel of his car in the middle of Witherspoon Street, and when he failed a drunkometer test, a charge of driving while intoxicated followed, with hearing next week.

Accompanied by her husband, Won T. Oh, Mrs. Leah K. Oh, of 100 Stockton Street, was driving on a learner's permit one evening last week when she backed into a fire hydrant . . . did he, by any chance, turn to her and say, "Oh-Oh, Mrs. Oh!"?

TRIMMED BY A TRUCK: About 51 feet of shrubbery and hedges belonging to Michael Leigai, 221 Bayard Lane, got an unexpected trimming Friday at 5 p.m. when this tractor-trailer plowed into the right shoulder of Bayard Lane at the intersection of Bayard and Birch. There were no injuries. Joseph N. Drungoole, 38, of Philadelphia, driver of the truck, told Township Magistrate Louis Gerber that he swerved to avoid a car speeding down Bayard into Mountain Avenue. His load of paper shifted, Mr. Drungoole said, and caused him to leave the road. Magistrate Gerber, disagreeing with Mr. Drungoole's version of the accident, imposed a $25 fine for careless driving. The truck was righted by 10:30 p.m. Friday, but it wasn't until 5 a.m. Saturday that the driver and his helpers cleared the area of dozens of reams of paper. (Town Topics Photo by Richard Steiner)

SCHOOL SITES LISTED

Township Announces Fall Plans. School bells will be ringing in unaccustomed places this September for Township children originally assigned to the new Riverside or Johnson Park schools.

Five classes—first, second and third grades—of Riverside children will meet in the Jewish Center on Nassau Street near Snowden Lane. Kindergarten, fourth and fifth grades will be held at Littlebrook. The Jewish Center is near the Riverside site and on the same side of Nassau Street so that children going there will not have a transportation problem. A paved parking lot behind the Center will be used for a play area and the Center's social hall can be used for assemblies and for recess in bad weather.

Occupancy in January. Arrangements for Johnson Park children will be announced next week. School officials expect that these children will be housed in Valley Road, Stony Brook School and one other building.

Contractors have assured the Township school board that the new schools will be ready for occupancy during December but the board felt that it would be better to delay the opening of the new buildings until after Christmas vacation, on January 4, 1960.

Although they will be in temporary quarters, all children will be in permanent classes with permanent teachers. Schedules for special teachers have been adjusted so that all classes will have art, music, French and gym.

In making the announcement about temporary assignments, Dr. William Purcell, Superintendent of Schools, and William Wilson, president of the School Board, stressed the importance of avoiding make-shifts, such as double sessions or larger classes. The present plans are final, subject only to the approval of the County Superintendent of Schools.

During the interim period, Mrs. Alice Packard, principal of Riverside School, will supervise all classes outside the regular school buildings. John McKenna, principal of Valley Road, and Charles Lamontaigne, principal of Littlebrook, will be responsible for the extra classes temporarily housed in their schools.

BAD WEEKEND FOR FENCE

Three hits, one stumped. A combination of slippery roads and a bad curve made things tough over the weekend for a barbed wire fence on the Updike farm, Quaker Road. Three cars skidded into the fence and one of them pushed five yards onto the farm property and demolished its front end against a stump.

The first incident occurred Saturday afternoon when an auto driven by Robert Rogers, 23, of 100 Stockton Street, skidded around the Quaker Road turn and smashed into the fence.

On Sunday afternoon, Miss Cynthia L. Avery, 25, of Trenton, was driving east on Quaker when her car skidded around the curve, hit the fence, ripped through the wire and knocked down four posts. An hour and a half later, a car driven by Leroy Truitt, 36, of Trenton, slipped on the same turn, went through the fence and onto the stump. Damage to the front end of his auto was described as serious.

Elsewhere in the Township, a Philadelphia man was injured when his car slipped off a jack while he was changing a flat tire. Jewels Stivender was the victim, the accident occurring on the Princeton - Lawrenceville Road early Monday morning. Pinned by the car, he was rescued by passers-by and treated at Princeton Hospital for chest injuries.

Fund. The announcement was made this week by Fred M. Blaicher, President of P.M.I.

The date for "United Community Day" will be chosen by a committee of Palmer Square merchants and will probably be in mid-September, well in advance of the October 14th opening of the campaign. The Merchants' Committee will also plan United Fund displays and special parking arrangements for shoppers who do their buying on that day.

"The 25 percent plan was chosen by merchants as being the procedure which would provide the greatest amount of revenue for the Fund," Mr. Blaicher said. "An alternate program, calling calling for the contribution of 100 percent of the day's profits was abandoned when it was determined that 25 percent of the gross income would provide a substantially larger sum."

LICENSE REVOKED

For Drunken Driving. Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. fined Cornelia J. Nutter, 30, 52 Birch Avenue, $225 and revoked her driver's license for two years in Borough Court Monday night on a charge of drunken driving.

Her car collided with the building at Witherspoon and Jackson Streets on Saturday afternoon and damaged the metal cellar door of Tolo's Market, 74 Witherspoon Street. She told the arresting officer, Patrolman J. Danford Ingalform, that a passenger was steering the car at the time of the accident.

Magistrate Tams announced that no court will be held on Labor Day, September 7. Regular sessions will resume the following Monday, September 14.

THREE LOSE LICENSES

For Speeding. The State's "60-70" revocation program cost two Princeton area drivers their licenses for 30 days, the Department of Motor Vehicles announced this week. They are Robert E. Kling, 34, Princeton Pike, and Edward J. Sullwell, 26, Cranbury Station Road, Cranbury.

Andreas Lahrman, 48, Washington Street, Rocky Hill, had his license revoked for 30 days under VAMP: Anita Lori gives a comic interpretation of the tango in the University Players' production of "The Boy Friend," which has been held over through Saturday at Murray Theatre. Miss Lori was the show's choreographer.

News Of The THEATRES

PLAYERS EXTEND SEASON

"Boy Friend" Held Over. "The Boy Friend," the University Players' final production of the season, is being held over for an extra week. Performances will be at 8:30 at Murray Theatre each night through Saturday.

This is the second time in the history of the postwar Players that a show's run has been extended. The first was "Waiting for Godot," earlier this summer. "The Boy Friend" has received unanimously favorable reviews from area newspapers.

Written by Sandy Wilson, "The Boy Friend" is a musical satire of the 1920's with the action revolving around a fashionable finishing school on the Riviera. Jinx Prather and John Wynne-Evans are the young lovers, while other featured roles are handled by Sara Rhodes, Georgine Hall, Philip Minor, Mary Louise Wilson, William Hicks, Nancy Grey and James Harder.

Music is provided by "The Hubcaps." Last week's Friday and Saturday night performances were sold out, with waiting lists for tickets. Attendance on the first three nights ranged from 150 to 190. The capacity of Murray Theatre is 212.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Room at the Top (August 26-29) may well be the best picture of the year. It is without doubt one of the best-acted and most mature films to flash across the Playhouse screen in many months.

The film, made in England, stars Laurence Harvey, Simone Signoret and Heather Sears. It was voted "Best Picture of the Year" at the 1959 exhibition of the British Film Academy, where Miss Signoret was selected as "Best Foreign Actress" for her role in it. Miss Signoret was also chosen "Best Actress" at the Cannes Film Festival.

"Room at the Top" is adapted from the novel of the same name by John Braine, one of the most talented members of England's nebulous Angry Young Men movement. The plot involves the experiences of a class-conscious young government clerk (Harvey) who is determined that there is Room at the Top, the Top being the home of the town's most exclusive residential section. His lever to gain entry is to be a carefully premeditated match with the daughter of a wealthy industrialist (Miss Sears). Unfortunately, he makes the mistake of falling seriously in love with the captivating Miss Signoret, 10 years his senior.

The characters are explored fully under the sure hand of director Jack Clayton, and Miss Signoret's portrayal, especially, comes to life as one of the most genuinely, unsentimentally tragic of all screen characters.

The treatment of sex in this film is adult in the fullest sense, in that it is open and frank without descending into cheapness. Harvey's seduction scene with Miss Sears is as good a treatment of this theme as this department has ever seen. You would be unwise to miss this film. Recommended for adults.

This Earth Is Mine (August 30-September 1) features Rock Hudson, Jean Simmons, Dorothy McGuire and Claude Rains in a saga of family intrigue in a Southern California wine dynasty. Attractively mounted in Cinema-Scope and Technicolor, liberally sprinkled with location shots of the verdant Napa Valley, the film is a kind of high class soap-opera that retains some merit in the strong performances of the stars.

As the Prohibition era nears its end, Rains, the benevolent despot of the dynasty, is determined to keep the business in the family. Refusing to sell his best grapes to the bootleggers, he calls his granddaughter (Miss Simmons) from England to wed Francis Bethencourt, who has a large financial interest in the winery. Instead of tripping up to the altar like a good girl, however, Miss Simmons becomes attached to Hudson, who is already involved with a number of other women, not excluding his wife. Intramural tensions increase when Hudson leads a campaign to interest the area's small winegrowers in selling to a Chicago bootlegging syndicate.

This summary does not fully indicate the incredible complicatedness of this plot, in which every character either is about to be or should be married to every other one. Furthermore, the picture is not long on subtlety, although it has the saving grace of excitement, paced to a roaring, forest-fire climax by director Henry King.

North by Northwest (September 2-5) gives further credence to something this department has believed for a long time: If Alfred Hitchcock didn't exist, it would be necessary to invent him. Even others in the directorial trade could have made a film so bright, funny and suspenseful out of a situation as inherently hackneyed and contrived as this one.

The plot, such as it is, revolves around the chase theme that doubtless predates "The Great Train Robbery." Adman Cary Grant, through a case of mistaken identity, runs afoul of espion-

ANY OLD DIAMONDS?

New Jewelry From Old. Many a safe-deposit box contains, folded into a yellowing envelope, the diamond bar pin given to great-aunty when she turned 18, or the garnet stick-pin that was grandfather's favorite. On the theory that good stones should not lie untorned, LaVake-Reid suggests that you dig out all the old heirloom jewelry and have it converted into something you can wear today.

As a rule, the stones can be used without re-cutting, even the old mine cut diamonds. They are simply removed from their old settings and worked into a gold or platinum setting that brings them up to date.

For example, the LaVake-Reid designers have made a charming flower basket pin of gems by using the opals, jades, garnets and ambers from a dozen old stick-pins and mounting them in a bouquet. The basket is gold.

In another design, the jewelers have taken diamonds from an old bar pin and mounted them in a modern bow-knot pin against a platinum setting. Another similar bar pin has become a wedding ring with three rows of diamonds.

LaVake-Reid has, of course, a large collection of stock rings, and these can often serve as the settings for gem stones whose old settings are no longer wearable. Sapphires have been incorporated into one such stock ring, making an attractive modern spiral ring.

Price depends on how many stones have to be mounted and how complex the mounting is. The design itself is free of charge. There are several designers at work on this project and you have more than one design to choose from.

Or you may bring in your own ideas for the jewelers to work out. If you don't want the design that is finally presented, you may have it to keep anyway—still no charge.

Alligator Tired? If your alligator handbag or your alligator shoes are beginning to show the wear and tear of captivity, you may take them to Center Shoe Repair in the Princeton Shopping Center for a refurbishing job.

This Shoe Will Fit

The custom-made shoe, a luxury to some, a necessity for others, is now available in Princeton from Center Shoe Repair in the Princeton Shopping Center.

For about $60, you may have a shoe built around one of Mr Sapienza's many lasts and molded carefully and precisely to the ins and outs of your own foot.

You might think of such a shoes as a school ma'rm's oxford but the pair Mr. Sapienza' is working on at the moment will have heels like skewers. Take a cherished piece of lether to his shop or ask him to use some from his own supply: the result will be a pair of shoes you'll wear for a lifetime, regardless of the caprice of fashion.

This shop has its entrance on the south parking lot. It is the shop of Mr. Sapienza, a true shoemaker, who can build a pair of shoes from the skin out or repair them or just make them look like new.

On alligator, a leather which tends to dry and tear, Mr. Sapienza uses a special spray to clean and shine the leather so that it looks even better than the alligator did when he was alive. He will also recondition other leather bags—the outsides of them, that is—with a different spray from the one he uses on alligators, and he will clean your suede, if it isn't too light in color.

This leather worker is not only a repair man but a creator as well. From a scrap of leather, your own or his, he will make you a small bag, perhaps a dramatic little conversation piece in pony fur. Or he will re-cover the top of your coffee table with a new piece of leather.

On the practical side, Mr. Sapienza will do the build-up work on orthopedic or corrective shoes and he will create a custom shoe that can make the difference—as it did in one case, Mr. Sapienza says—between walking or being bound to a wheel-chair.

Art in the Parlor. The pleasures of home decorating and the pleasures of art ought to be combined more than they are, says the Home Furnishings shop on Witherspoon Street, and to promote the idea the shop will begin this week the first in a series of displays designed to show how you can decorate your home around the arts and crafts.

First on the list of artists is Rex Goreleigh, whose watercolors, serigraphs and oils will be on display at the shop for the next two weeks. Sally Cook, the girl who has a green thumb for color, has chosen drapery and slip-cover fabrics which complement the colors in Mr. Goreleigh's paintings.

For example, she has chosen yellows and greens to go with the vibrant colors in a giant Van Gogh-like sunflower which is Mr. Goreleigh's tribute to summer. This is a tremendous painting which would probably dominate the entire room.

water-colors, like the Delaware and Raritan canal in winter. Miss Cook has chosen muted shades with an occasional warm accent.

To please all taste, Mr. Gorleigh has produced examples from almost the whole range of his art.

Besides the dazzling sunflower and the quiet little winter scenes, there is a striking still-life of fruit done in the alla prima medium; thin oil which allows the texture of the canvas to show through. There is also a clucking portrait of two black hens with vivid red combs (for a Provincial room), a lovely green and brown study of Quaker Bridge Road with its arching trees (for a traditional room) and some primitively dancers (for the modernist).

After the current display, Home Furnishings expects to show you what can be done in a room with the products of a silversmith and how you can decorate by using framed textiles from the loom of a local designer. The exhibits will appear on an irregular schedule this fall and winter.

Plenty of Champagne, Anyway. When a liquor store celebrates its anniversary it never lacks the means for celebration. Varsity Liquor has been toasting its own first anniversary at 231 Nassau and the popping of champagne corks is in the air.

It was last August that Stephen Eory bought the store and the first year has been a successful one thanks to old customers who remained and new ones who came and stayed.

Shelf space has been enlarged, ice-cube facilities have been added, imports have been increased (Dalva's port, from Portugal, for example, at $1.99. Or, from Germany, the Niersteiner at $1.49 up to the Spatlese at $2.18. Or the vintage Chilean Rieslings and burgundies.)

Varsity started out with its own bourbon and its own 90 proof gin. The shop now carries on 85 proof gin, a 90 proof vodka and, in a week or two, Scotch. All under its own label.

"When we opened last year," Mrs. Eory recalls, "we said 'How wonderful it'll be when we get past this first year!' Now, we're looking forward to the next year, and the next year after that!"

age agent James Mason. Mason wants to get rid of Grant, so Grant begins a wild cross-country tour that takes him through cornfields (where a crop-dusting plane attempts to gun him down), railroad stations, trains (where he meets and falls in love with Eva Marie Saint, whose allegiances are never clear until the finale) and finally deposits him on the top of Mount Rushmore, where he fights it out with the bad guys while suspended from various parts of the Presidents' faces.

It's all done in great good humor, which sometimes solidifies into slickness, and Hitchcock uses every trick in his voluminous book to keep the tension growing in the final scenes. The acting is all excellent, and the photography in VistaVision and color, is superb. Recommended.

THE GARDEN

Shane (Aug. 27-29) produced in 1953, is one of the classic Westerns; along with "High Noon," it has come to be a standard against which all current offerings in this genre must be judged. The six years since its release have done little to dim the freshness and excellence of the production. The stars are Alan Ladd, Jean Arthur, Van Heflin and Brandon De Wilde.

Shane (Ladd), a gunfighter, is a guest at Heflin's Wyoming ranch when Heflin and his fellow homesteaders are engaged in a fight with the cattlemen, led by Emile Meyer. Meyer's gang tries to intimidate Ladd into leaving the area. When he refuses with a flurry of fists, Meyer brings in gunfighter Jack Palance, just about the cruelest villain in the history of the Western, to help him make his point by killing a couple of homesteaders.

This plot, the homesteaders vs. the cattle barons, is one of the oldest in the Western catalogue, but it receives new life under the sure direction of George Stevens. Jack Sehaefer contributed the fine script, and all the principals are in top form. It is safe to say, as a matter of fact that Ladd has never been better. Recommended.

Witness for the Prosecution (August 31-September 2) was the immediate predecessor of the current rash of courtroom dramas ("Compulsion" and "Anatomy of a Murder," to name two good ones) and, largely through the performance of Charles Laughton, it manages to extract every iota of tension, humor and surprise from the well-done screenplay by Billy Wilder and Harry Kurnitz. Their adaptation catches the tenor of the original Agatha Christie story.

Laughton, an aging but keen English barrister, is called in by Tyrone Power, who is accused of murdering a middle-aged woman for her money. Although his health is poor, Laughton is convinced of Power's innocence and he agrees to take the case after a conversation with Marlene Dietrich, Power's wife and only alibi. The trial is held in Old Bailey, and things do not go well for Power. His chances for acquittal seemingly disappear when Miss Dietrich, on the stand, repudiates the alibi and says that Power in fact confessed the crime to her.

The film proceeds suspensefully from this point to an unusually effective double-twist ending. Laughton, while never losing sight of the serious undertones of his portrayal, is at his best in the scenes which call for the mannered, crackling humor he handles so well, and Elsa Lanchester is excellent as his bossy private nurse. "Witness for the Prosecution" was made in 1957. Recommended.

MINNOWS TO SHARKS

"Y" Offers Swimming Program. An aquatic program with instruction based on national progressive swimming tests will be offered this fall by the Princeton YMCA. The tests, known as "minnow," "fish," "flying fish" and "shark," start with beginning swimmers and advance through several levels of achievement. The tests are pre-requisites for classes in Junior and Senior Life Saving.

In addition to swimming instruction at all levels, the "Y" will also offer classes in life saving and water safety, competitive swimming, synchronized swimming, diving, recreational games and leadership training.

Regular monthly workshops will also be held with aquatic specialists speaking and serving as discussion leaders. Two special leadership training institutes will be held in spring and summer.

Stocking Up For A Trip

Robert Hahr, 25, of Cherry Valley Road, was an employee of Bamberger's, so when he realized he'd be needing a few things to take along on his vacation, he naturally thought first of his employer's big store.

He was convicted in a special session of Township Court on Saturday of setaling the following items, valued at $317.03, from the store: a bedspread, a can opener, 24 flashlight batteries, four pairs of shoes, a piece of luggage, a razor, three pairs of trousers, a shirt, a bathing suit, a wallet, a brassiere, a cigarette case, a liquor flask, two water floats, a pillow, a jacket, six rolls of film, a radio, a camera, a deck of cards and a skirt.

After fining him $5, Magistrate Louis R. Gerber offered Hahr his own suggestion for an expenses-paid vacation: 90 days in the county workhouse.

Question of the Week

Question: Is jaywalking a hazard to safety in Princeton? If so, what do you think could be done to stop it?

Where asked: Along Nassau Street.

Mrs. Elis Velikovsky, 78 Hartley Avenue, artist: It is, probably, but I do it too. In New York, the campaign against jaywalking works well; it could be done here, too.

S. Dunham Wilson, 4 River Road, Seminary student: I think so, yes. I've cussed out more than one pedestrian for this, but the fact that motorists don't stop for pedestrians at crosswalks probably contributes to jaywalking. I would require that police put on a continuous and unending campaign to enforce the crosswalk regulations, and also paint the walks so they are more visible. I stopped for a pedestrian at an intersection the other day. She looked surprised.

Ralph Addison, Harris Road, Princeton Junction, plumber: I think jaywalking is dangerous in Princeton, I really do. Everyone goes across any place they want. The rules should be enforced. The campaign of warning jaywalkers should encourage people to cross at the crosswalks.

Mrs. Thomas W. Eglin, 16 Gulick Road, housewife: It never used to be, but it is now because Nassau Street has become a huge artery, a main thoroughfare with trucks and other heavy traffic. I don't think warnings are the answer at all; I think the answer is in diverting the trucks out of the center of town.

Mrs. James Laughlin, Drakes Corner Road, housewife: I think it is, because there's a lot of traffic, especially at noon and around 5 o'clock, when people go home from work. I think the answer is to have another road which will take some of the traffic off Nassau Street.

Miss Kitty Gulliksen, 12 Aiken Avenue, student: No, I don't think so. Most cars don't speed through town; they get used to jaywalking all winter with the students.

Miss Judy Delaney, 56 Jefferson Road, student: No, I don't think it is. I think drivers expect jaywalking. I know I do when I'm driving. I find from experience it's usually easier and safer to cross in the middle of the block than at corners in Princeton.

Duncan Brockway, 9 Witherspoon Street, librarian at Speer Library: I doubt if they can eliminate it, because the blocks are too long. Furthermore, crossing at traffic lights is sometimes more dangerous than crossing in the middle of the block, due to the fact that there is no waiting period when the cars aren't moving. Drivers do not observe the law which says that pedestrians in an intersection have the right-of-way and the pedestrians show no thought for drivers trying to get around corners.

Edward Clohassey, 479 Jefferson Road, employee, Wine and Game Shop: Jaywalking is a hazard, there's no doubt about that. Two things could be done. One is to encourage drivers to pay more attention to the light system. A lot of them go right on through the intersections when the light is changing. Second, many people and especially the students step out from between parked cars. Giving tickets for jaywalking is not a measure which will eliminate it. It's just a means of trying to force people to break a habit they have developed. It's an educational matter; I was very impressed with New York's publicity campaign. They made it illegal and also flooded the newspapers and radios with reminders not to jaywalk.

Roland F. Payett, 19 Edwards Place, test specialist at ETS: I'm new to Princeton, I've only been here a week and haven't had a chance to see just how much of it goes on. But if it is a hazard and if it's against the law, I think the law should be enforced. Some newspaper publicity pointing out the seriousness of the problem would help. I think this community should be amenable to any steps taken to eliminate this hazard.

Walk At The Green?

In Princeton, where nobody talks about jaywalking but everybody does something about it, the Police Department's recently-announced mild crackdown on the practice is viewed in some quarters as an assault on a tradition nearly as old as the football bonfire. Although the police program, at least for the time being, will be restricted to warnings, it has had the immediate effect of acquainting residents with the fact that there is a law against jaywalking.

Backyard discussions on the subject have centered around two questions: In light of the Princeton traffic situation, is jaywalking dangerous here? and secondarily, but equally pertinent, How can it be stopped if it is dangerous?

Town Topics asked these questions of a dozen persons on Nassau Street this week. Although there were exceptions, the consensus view was, "Yes, it's dangerous, but I still do it." Suggestions, printed on this page, for ending the practice ranged from stricter enforcement of traffic laws at intersections to the construction of a bypass to keep heavy traffic out of the center of town, thereby, it was intimated, rendering Princeton safe once more for jaywalkers.

A BURNING TORCH, THEN SMOKING RUINS: Roaring orange flames lit the night sky last Wednesday as fire destroyed the barn and outbuildings at "Woodacres," the A. W. Hobler farm on Cedar Grove Road, near Blawenburg. Hundreds of spectators were at the scene of the fire, drawn by the smoke that was visible for 10 miles. Two days later, smoke was still rising from the spot where the 152-foot barn had stood. Farm employees say that the longer the ruins smoke, the easier it will be to clear the rubble. Bulldozers have already begun to level the charred uprights, but there is so much burned and twisted metal that it may be necessary to dig a large hole and push the debris into it. FIRE DESTROYS BARN

Damage: $100,000. A spectacular fire, thought to have been caused by a short circuit, destroyed an estimated $100,000 worth of property last Wednesday at "Woodacres," the farm of A. W. Hobler, Cedar Grove Road, Blawenburg. No one was injured.

The fire, which was visible in the night sky for miles, was discovered at 7:05 p.m. by the children of M. B. Sowerby, farm manager. The blaze apparently started in the 152-foot barn and from there it spread, destroying not only the barn but two silos, 150 tons of hay, two walk-in deep freeze units, a milk house, milk tanks and two hull pens.

The cattle were outside because it was a hot, dry night and there was no livestock loss.

Approximately 100 firemen labored until midnight to bring the blaze under control. Fire companies responded from Rocky Hill, Montgomery Township, Little Rocky Hill, Skillman, Hopewell, Princeton and Hillsborough Township. Four pumpers were stationed at Bedens Brook and one at the house. Approximately eight other pieces of fire equipment were also at the scene of the fire, including a truck from Mercerville which one of the companies had previously borrowed.

Prize Guernsey cattle are bred at "Woodacres," and the farm has won many blue ribbons for its stock.

Meyner: Khrushchev Is Like an Organ Player

A highly-volatile politician, comparable to "an organ player who pulls out all the stops" —that's the simile used by Governor Meyner to describe Russia's Prime Minister, Nikita Khrushchev.

Governor Meyner was one of nine Americans of his rank to visit the USSR earlier this summer, and personal interviews with the top Russian were a highlight of the trip. Now, with Khrushchev about to come to the U.S., Gov. Meyner gave this appraisal of him at his weekly press conference:

"I have said on a number of occasions that I think he is essentially a politician. He might be compared to the organ player that we used to see in the old silent movie days.

"He can pull out all stops and switch fast from emotion to emotion. He can use his hands and feet and even his elbows. He can express anger, enthusiasm, sorrow.

"I think if he had been born in the United States, he would have become a politician, a fairly important political figure—the mayor of a city or perhaps a governor. He is personable, shrewd, and adept in argument. However, I do not think he is a profound thinker.

"What we have to remember is that he is committed to an ideology that is quite opposed to the one we profess. He is out to prove that his thesis is correct.

"We have to reckon with him. But none of us should think the cold war is at an end because the President of the United States and the head of the Soviet Union are going to exchange visits."

ACID WILL NOT FAZE HIM

Thompson Comments on Incident. Congressman Frank Thompson, Jr., has pledged in his weekly newsletter that last week's acid-throwing incident, which made headlines throughout the country, would not stop his efforts to represent his Mercer and Burlington County constituents "without regard to outside forces or influences."

Last week, an unidentified man in a car threw carbolic acid at Rep. Thompson and his family through a window while they were driving in Washington, D.C. No one was injured, but the acid burned the clothes of the congressman slightly.

In the newsletter, Rep. Thompson said:

"May I say that Evie, the children and I are all deeply grateful for the innumerable messages of good will which have come to us from home. While we must live here during the sessions of Congress, we consider it only a temporary residence and we are always mindful of the fact that our friends are not here with us.

"I am here solely because of the hard work and votes of those friends. My greatest responsibility as a legislator is to represent all of the people of the Burlington-Mercer District. I have tried, and will continue in my efforts, to reflect their will without regard to outside forces or influences."

Dr. James R. White, 118 Cedar Lane, has been promoted to Supervisor of the Nuclear Research Group of Socony Mobil Oil Company's Stony Brook Laboratory near Pennington. He has been affiliated with Socony since in 1947.

Dr. White, a native of Illinois, received his Ph.D. in chemistry from Yale University in 1944, and worked with the Tennessee Eastman Corporation at Oak Ridge, EARNS PROMOTION: James R. White has been named to an important post by Socony Mobil Oil Company.

Tenn. He carried on research in physics and chemistry with Socony's Paulsboro Laboratory until his transfer to the Stony Brook Laboratory on August 1. Dr. White is married and has one son.

Richard S. Feist, a Princeton graduate of 1954, was recently promoted to the rank of captain in the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve. Captain Feist, attached to the 3rd 155 mm Howitzer Battalion in Trenton, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Feist, 501 State Road.

Alan E. Mayers, 47 Balsam Lane, was awarded the degree of Master of Science from the School of Public Relations and Communications of Boston University last week. He was among 843 students who received degrees at the university's summer commencement exercises.

Dr. Roscoe C. Williams, research physicist on the staff of RCA Laboratories at the David Sarnoff Research Center, has received a special award from the Institute of Radio Engineers' Professional Group on Ultrasonics Engineering for the best technical paper published during 1958 in the group's transactions. Dr. Williams received a certificate and a cash prize for his paper entitled "Theory of Magnetostrictive Delay Lines for Pulse and Continuous Wave Transmission."

Army PFC Theodore G. Rosfjord, son of Torlieu Rosfjord, Route 1, completed the eight-week officer press operation course at The Engineer School, Fort Belvoir, Va. A 1956 graduate of Princeton High School, he was trained in platemaking, process photography and in the operation of offset presses used to duplicate maps and charts.

Miss Loreta S. Merritt, Rocky Hill, has completed the Advanced Agency Management Course of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Agents. Held at Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, the school offers training in the fields of survey selling, agency accounting and cost control, public relations, advertising, salesmanship, life insurance selling and agency perpetuation.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Nilson, 30 Alexander Street, are serving as speakers and research leaders in Congregational Christian youth and family camps this summer as part of a program run by the Missions Council of the Congregational Church.

They are stationed in Turkey as missionaries, but are spending the summer in this country on furlough. Rannakurraa Hivale, of India, is stationed at Princeton University in connection with the program.

FINAL BAR: An attache case was presented to Bruce McKinney (right) by percussionist Serge Silbey following the Princeton Community Band's final concert of the season last Friday. Mr. McKinney, who founded the band, will graduate from Princeton University next June, making this his final summer as director of the group.

Report from THE MAYOR

Thursday Open House. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor!" sessions will be held on Thursday, August 27, and Thursday, September 3, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever required for these informal meetings.

Last week's visitors included a number of returning vacationers. There were two recurrent themes: "It's great to be back in Princeton." And "The police certainly do an efficient job of keeping their eyes on the homes while we're away."

Printed Circuits. The Mayor and Council have been listening to a lot of technical talk about modern two-way radio systems in preparation for some important decision-making that will affect police, fire, first aid and civil defense communications in Princeton.

Proposals have been received which would involve installation of the latest type of transistorized equipment. The new equipment will use much less power and thus eliminate the need for the special batteries and generators which added to the cost of radio-equipped Borough vehicles.

Even more important, it will eliminate a lot of the noise and confusion of the old equipment. The desk officer will not have to sort out the Princeton calls from a host of out-of-state and out-of-town messages. Noise and static will be reduced and the officer will be able to concentrate more effectively on his important duties.

Council must decide among competing bids for purchase, rental and service of the various items of equipment. In doing so, it has had the benefit of sound technical advice from interested local residents.

As Summer Ends. Officially, the summer of 1959 has a few more weeks to run its course. Actually, though, as Labor Day approaches, a number of special summer activities have ended.

The summer recreation supervisor, "Ham" Christian reports another successful season. The community appreciates the work of the Playgrounds Committee and its fine staff.

Likewise, a special vote of thanks is due the community band and especially to Bruce McKinney for his splendid service in organizing and directing it. Special commendation is also in order for the many community organizations that made possible a variety of summer recreations: theatre, day-camping, swimming instruction, sports, and so on.

Constitution Week. President Eisenhower has asked local officials as well as all religious, civic, educational and other organizations to observe the week of September 17 through September 23 as Constitution Week, with special activities to commemorate the signing of the Constitution on September 17, 1787.

Last week the Mayor enjoyed the opportunity of showing his youngsters the original document in Washington. They also had a chance to get some first-hand background on the historic men and events of that period of our history by a visit to Williamsburg, Mount Vernon, Monticello and other scenes of Virginia's contributions to our history.

Nassau Hall and Princeton Battlefield are part of the background of the full-length portrait of Washington at the Williamsburg Capitol. At Jefferson's home, a listing of some highlights of his career includes the item: "1791 LL.D. granted by Princeton University." In Virginia, as elsewhere, people are very much interested in Princeton.

TIGERS TO GATHER

For First Football Practice. Sixty-one members of the Princeton University football squad will return to Princeton Monday, prior to departure for the Blairstown training camp. The two-a-day sessions will start Tuesday and continue through September 18, when the players come back for the start of classes.

Physical examinations Tuesday morning will precede the trip by bus to the site of the Princeton Summer Camp in the picturesque Kittatiny Mountains. The first drill is set for that afternoon.

Ineligibility Cuts Squad. Six players counted on when the 1958 season ended will not be available this fall. Three of them are sophomores sidelined by academic problems: John Kachel, a 225-lb. tackle; John Carter, 180 lbs., and Jim Lynch, 200. Carter is a fullback, Lynch a fullback, with Kachel's disappearance from the tackle candidates—a berth where the Tigers need help—the biggest blow.

A veteran in this position, 200-lb. Frank Schultz, has had to forego the sport in his senior year because of recurrent headaches that doctors could not cure. A standout as a sophomore, he was missed most of last season while benched by the undiagnosed ailment and would have held a starting berth if he had been fit this year.

Two other seniors have decided not to report: Walt Kirn, 197-lb. center, and Robin Prince, 204-lb. fullback. Both had been counted on in a reserve capacity.

Line-Building a Problem. The Tigers will go into the new season as well set at end and center as they have been in a number of years. This will be particularly true if Jim Stansbury, a fine end in his sophomore year, can play as the result of an operation for a slipped disc in his back. The injury shelved him throughout 1958, but he has at least a 50-50 chance of returning to action this season.

It will be the tackle and guard slots that will require the greatest attention from the coaches, with a certain amount of personnel juggling due there. One of the keys to satisfactory development of the interior of the line is sophomore John Craig, who played freshman football for Oklahoma two years ago. If he comes along well as a tackle it may be that Bob Fisher, a two-year letterman, will be switched from tackle to guard.

In the backfield, the versatile Mike Ippolito will be switched to fullback, returning to the position he filled so well as a freshman. He is good enough so that he was a wingback as a sophomore and last season held down the quarterback assignment.

Senior Jay Cullen and sophomore Phil Carlin will be the leading candidates for quarterback. Carlin at 197 has 13 pounds on the former; tabbed as the outstanding sophomore prospect, he may come along quickly enough to win the starting assignment by mid-season.

There's a question mark, too, at tailback, where the condition of Dan Sachs and Jack Sullivan must be determined by pre-season scrimmages. Both sat out much of last season with injuries, and if they continue in trouble, Mike Iseman might be shifted from wingback to pair with junior Hugh Scott. It was Scott who developed so beautifully last season, taking off much of the pressure when Sachs and Sullivan were both out for weeks after injuries in the rugged Pennsylvania game.

MONTGOMERY WINS

Tops So. Brunswick for Title. Formidable pitching from Charles Brogan and George LaCosta nailed down a playoff victory for Montgomery Township in the Tri-County League. The two left-handers hurled 4-2 and 5-1 triumphs over South Brunswick in the playoff finals, making a third "rubber" game unnecessary.

Montgomery also won the regular season championship, and was the only team in the three-team league to finish above .500. South Brunswick edged out third-place Princeton Athletic Club two games to one, in the first round of the playoffs.

DINER TAKES LEAD

In Girls' Softball Finals. Ability to stave off a last-inning rally by Town Topics gave the Clarksville Diner a 5-4 victory in the first game of the championship playoff in the Girls' Community Softball League. The opening contest in the best-of-three series took place Monday on Goldie Field.

The victors jumped out to a 4-0 lead behind the pitching of Sandy Bertrand, and maintained the margin as late as the top of the sixth. In that frame, however, Town Topics pushed two runs across the plate, then yielding one in the lower half of the inning to trail, 5-2, with three outs left.

The losers scored twice more in the top of the seventh, but the attack fell one run short of earning a tie. Town Topics outhit the victors, 13 to 10, but was charged with two misplays in contrast to Clarksville's errorless ball.

Lola Cooper paced Clarksville's offense with Sheila Petrone and Carol Olden the standouts for Town Topics. Ginny Mershon went the distance for the losers.

Custom Built Homes In Princeton's Western Section

These homes are custom built in the true sense of the word with an eye to the finite details that go to make for a truly custom home, and of course, provisions were made for complete air-conditioning. Houses are on lots of over an acre completely and individually landscaped and have oversized two-car garages. These homes are priced at close to builder's cost and well below the market.

80-Foot Ranch - (Under Construction) - Situated on a lovely high lot. Enter a large, gracious reception foyer; then see the spacious living room with a fireplace and lovely bow picture window - a mahogany panelled den with large glass sliding doors to your garden - full sized dining room and a separate breakfast room, both with picture bow windows - an extremely modern kitchen with all built in appliances - laundry room - 3 oversized bedrooms - 2½ baths - and a full basement. Priced below market $43,500.

2-Story Southern Colonial - (Under Construction) - majestically sitting in a group of lovely old trees atop a knoll with its 2 story white columns on a 40 foot portico against a background of old brick is a picture home one must see. 4 oversized bedrooms - 2 baths and a beautifully appointed guest powder room - large living room with a fireplace - mahogany panelled library - full dining room - separate breakfast room - fully equipped kitchen with all birch cabinets and a large laundry and utility room - also a full basement. This home priced at $47,500 is probably Princeton's biggest bargain.

Open House — Saturdays and Sundays 1:30 - 5:00 P.M., or can be seen by appointment. Just 'phone New York City, Oxford 7-3646 (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.) or Princeton, Walnut 1-6592 (Eve.) or contact your own broker.

A NOTABLE COLONIAL for $41,500

Periodically we are asked by customers for a house like this (early Princeton) in this location (quaint, convenient West end Borough street). For the first time, we can now say we have it! Some work is needed, though much has been done, to make this one of those real Princeton charmers, with many of the touches antique house lovers dote on (wide floorboards, etc.) Formal parlor, spacious library or playroom, dining room, kitchen, laundry and powder rooms are downstairs; three and a half (perfect for added bath) bedrooms and bath up. The good-sized lot could, with a touch of horticultural artistry, be delightful.

FOR RENT

Spacious brick house in Western section 2 miles from center of town. Lovely grounds. Separate apartment can be rented or used by tenants.

Unusually attractive two - bedroom apartment near Lake Carnegie and bus line. Three year lease required. Available immediately $175.
